Autodesk Quantity Takeoff 2013 Hotfix – drag and drop related issues

In a continuing effort to provide high quality products, Autodesk has released this hotfix which resolves Drag and Drop related issues in Autodesk Quantity Takeoff 2013.

Issues addressed by this update

When a new item is created in a group, then subsequently moved into another group, it will remain in the original group upon saving and reopening. For example:

1. On the Takeoff Palette ► New Group  ► type group name [Group A] ► press Enter.
2. Double-click the group ► New Item  ► type item name ► press Enter.
3. Create a second New Group  called Group B, and drag the item into this group.
4. Save ► Close Project.
5. Open Project.

The item is displayed in the first group [Group A] in which it was created. It should be displayed in the second group [Group B] that it was moved to.

Installation Instructions

Note: You must have Autodesk Quantity Takeoff 2013 installed on the system in order to see the results of this hotfix.

To Install the Hotfix

1. Close all software applications.
2. Unzip aqto_2013_hotfix.zip to your local machine.
3. Install the hotfix by one of the following options:

Option 1: Automated installation

- Run Install.bat to automatically install all fixes onto your machine. (Ensure you run it as Administrator for Windows XP or Windows 7 and close the “User Account Control”.)

Option 2: Manual installation

- Navigate to the folder where Autodesk Quantity Takeoff 2013 is installed.
